GALLUP NOW HAS SHORT ROUTE TO COLORADO POINT

BAR MEETING IN ROSWELL WILL BE A HUMMER

Flushed Wolf Creek Pass Through San Juan Mountains Lessens Distance From Carbon City to Pueblo.

The completion of the Wolf Creek pass, connecting by a short cut from the San Juan valley and San Juan road of southwestern Colorado, has opened a new route between Pueblo, Colorado, and Durango, N. M.

This road has been forged from Pueblo to Durango, John P. Dodge, of Chicago, Robert H. Higgins, of Pueblo, members of the Pueblo County Commission and head of several highway associations, and C. A. Letts, city editor of the Pueblo Chieftain, having recently made the trip by automobile. The route reached Albuquerque in 1400 feet in the last half to Pueblo.

The longing party's trip, when run, will form a big loop, touching Pueblo, Durango, Trinidad, Alamogordo, Santa Fe, Taos and Pueblo on the return trip. It does not bring the road from Santa Fe through Taos into Colorado.

The Wolf creek pass is twenty-five miles long, opening a way across the San Juan mountains or southwestern Colorado. It is 10,000 feet high at its highest point. This pass shortens the distance between Pueblo and Las Vegas by 250 miles, according to Mr. Letts.

From the Flowery Kingdom
with a lavish hand by the people of the town.

The campaign for a bigger membership has been started. President C. M. Botts of Albuquerque, and Secretary John R. McRae, of Santa Fe, have determined to give a generous portion of their time and energy to the upbuilding of the organization, and to this end will seek the co-operation of every lawyer in the state interested in the future welfare of the association.

With the流ery Kingdom

To the honorable ladies and gentlemen of Albuquerque, greeting. From the far kingdom of Japan we come and touching the ground with our foreheads we beg our honorable income at our unworthy feet. And the flowers and lights of our native country we will humbly strive to please you with our songs and dances.

Business Prosperity Brings Big Demand for Efficiently Business Trained Young Men and Women.

Greater and greater is becoming the demand for the efficient, trained office and business assistants. Every day on every hand, in every line of business, can be seen poor business management, lack of efficiency in business habits, losses, neglected business, unwise credit extension, poor salesmanship. Fortunately, this condition is not so noticeable, now, as a few years ago. Successful business men are learning that they must have capable assistants, and that they must expect to succeed only in the work of their own hands and head, but by the direction, and with the assistance and through the efforts of, carefully selected, well prepared, and efficiently trained associates.

As yet, only a small percentage of the young people of today realize the opportunities that are theirs if they will only prepare themselves to grasp them. Many young men of today, at twenty, are commanding salaries that their fathers never enjoyed at forty, and many young women are likewise commanding salaries that make the incomes of many of the government officials, politicians, judges and many professional men look like nothing.

Many young parents who are fortunate enough to find themselves in comfortable or even wealthy circumstances often regard their children—other than the firstborn—as income from the necessity of, at some times, having to work for their living. Every boy, town, family, and even country district has its quota of Hernandez wrecks and sons and daughters are left to shift for themselves with nothing to shift with except the "bastard" motives of their father and family which unfortunately is of no market value in the business world now or at any other time. Knights of Columbus to Put Big Class of Candidates Through Ritualistic Work; Many Visitors Expected.

The three degrees of the Knights of Columbus will be exemplified to a large class of candidates in their hall in Albuquerque next Sunday, September 3. Most of the candidates are from Albuquerque, but there will also number from Los Angeles, Santa Fe and Gallup. It is expected that many visitors will come from and to town to witness the exmplifications. Past State Deputy S. M. Morton will preside over the third degree, assisted by W. W. W. Williams, of Taos, and J. W. Gillies, of Taos. The exmplifications promises to be one of the most colorful in the history of Albuquerque's council. The first degree will be on Sunday morning, and the second and third degrees in the afternoon. A program will be offered at 4 o'clock, with a procession of important speakers and musical numbers.
